There are many different kinds of stuffed animals. Possibly the most popular stuffed animal is the stuffed toy bear nicknamed the “teddy bear”. Have you ever wondered how these cute little bears got their name? It’s an interesting story!

In 1902, President Theodore Roosevelt was on a hunting trip in Mississippi with a group of hunters. One of the hunters had chased a bear up a tree. He told the President to shoot it. President Roosevelt, who was known as a sportsman, refused to shoot the bear. He said it was “unsportsmanlike”. A newspaper made a cartoon about President Roosevelt’s refusal.

According to the popular legend, a shopkeeper saw the cartoon, and asked the President’s permission to make stuffed bears called “Teddy’s bears”. “Teddy” was a nickname for Theodore, and although the President disliked the nickname, many people called him that.

Whether the President approved the bears named after him (or if he was even asked) is not certain. What is certain is that teddy bears have been a popular and beloved toy for at least a hundred years.

Teddy bears can be found almost every toy store. They can also be found in museums, in art shows, in collector’s trade shows, and many other places. They show no signs of leaving the hearts of children any time soon.
